

STRANGER MAY BE ANOTHER MARCAN

Upon finding that 12 blank checks were missing from his check book, Henry Williams, manager of the Utah and Oregon Lumber company, and the Williams Lumber company, has issued a warning to banks and business men not to cash checks bearing the business head of the latter company without conferring with him. It is feared that a second J. Marcan is abroad in the land.

The blank checks were taken Monday from the office of Williams in the office of the Utah and Oregon Lumber company. He and the police suspect a stranger who signs his name George Carter, as on the date the checks were taken, Carter ordered a bill of lumber and gave in payment a check which has proved to be worthless.

On Monday afternoon, the stranger entered the office and ordered some lumber, most of which was mill work, and would require a day or so before delivery could be made. The bill came to $68.38. Directing that the lumber be delivered to 2022 Adams avenue, the stranger stated that he would pay in advance and asked for a blank check. Williams accommodated him with one of his personal checks, but the book was taken from the drawer where the other checks are kept and where the man was given an opportunity to learn the location of the blank check books.

While the stranger was filling in the check, Williams went into the yard to supervise the filling of the order. When he returned, the man handed the check and left.

Before the check was delivered yesterday, the check was returned with the statement "no funds" attached. The other banks were visited and it was found that no one knew George Carter. A visit to the address given for the delivery of the lumber was also made and it was found that no one there knew Carter.

When the checks were found missing, suspicion rested upon the mysterious Carter. Believing that the man might repeat the trick of Marcan, Williams notified the police to be on the lookout for a heavy set man. The missing checks are numbered 90, 92, 93, 95, 96, 98, 99, 101, 102, 104, 105.

SPENDS ALL HIS MONEY, NOW MUST WALK

John King confessed to the judge in police court this morning that he did not show much brilliancy of mind when he came to Ogden from Idaho yesterday with $14 and spent the entire amount for whiskey which makes it necessary for him to walk to his home in Honeyville. He was given a suspended sentence.

A. T. Palmer was fined $2 for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. George Carter, a resident of Ogden for 46 years, pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace, and then turned about and denied to Judge Reeder that he had disturbed the peace. He complained that he had been abused by his wife and had gone to a neighbor's house yesterday to induce her to come home to get him a meal. He swore he had disturbed no peace and when the complaining witness did not appear in court, the judge let Carter go.

George Stratton, a tinker, charged with drunkenness, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of five days. He was arrested in the residence district last evening when citizens complained that a drunken man was asleep in the weeds of a vacant lot.

HARRY DONLEY BOUND OVER FOR TRIAL

Following the preliminary examination held in Judge W. H. Reeder's court this morning, Harry Donley, charged with grand larceny, was bound over to the district court for trial. His bond was fixed at $1000 in default of which he was measured and photographed and placed in the custody of Sheriff Thomas DeVine.

In the complaint, Donley is charged with taking a purse containing $3 from Thomas Nelson on July 23. Nelson testified this morning that the purse had been snatched from his hand by Donley, and Peter D. Peterson testified that he had seen Donley run back of the freight house and saw him drop an object which he afterwards found was the purse alleged to have been stolen from Nelson.

WATCHMEN ARE TO BE GIVEN A LECTURE

As a result of the statements made by four alleged vagrants, arrested by railroad watchmen yesterday afternoon, when they were brought before Judge Reeder this morning, the judge will inform the railroad watchmen just what constitutes vagrancy as present indications point to their lack of knowledge on that subject.

Each of the men declared that he was stopped by a watchman named Wilson who asked if they had a dollar. When neither was able to produce the amount, the watchman placed them under arrest.

Judge Reeder gave them all suspended sentences. They had pleaded guilty, they said, because they had been told that unless they had a dollar they were vagrants.

SEATTLE TO OWN CAR LINE.

FORTY-TWO IN EXCURSION TO PARK

Dan Ensign accompanied the party to Brigham City, seeing that all secured the reservations held for them. He came to Ogden at midnight by way of the Ogden Rapid Transit line.

DEFENDANTS ASK FOR PARTICULARS

The defendant in the suit of the Elks Lumber company against the firm of Pierce & Shupe has given notice in the district court that an additional bill of particulars will be asked for in the near future. The defendant avers that plaintiffs, in their original bill of particulars, do not sufficiently particularize the items of the account to apprise the defendants of the exact "jobs" for which material was furnished. The suit is brought to recover the balance of an alleged account in the sum of $806.

The entire account is alleged to have amounted to something over $10,000.

ESTABLISHING OF TERMINAL STATION

Following a conference this evening between Superintendent Edward McGrath and Chief Clerk D. C. Pettibone of the eighth division of the railway mail service, and W. F. Bangasser, chief clerk of the service at Ogden, it is expected that the recommendation for an appropriation for the establishment of a parcel post terminal station at Ogden will be sent to Washington.

McGrath and Pettibone were to have arrived this morning but were delayed by the trouble on the Southern Pacific near Thibideau. That a station will be established in Ogden within a short time, is the opinion of Clerk Bangasser. Accurate checks have been kept of the amount of parcel post matter passing through and handled on trains by mail clerks and it is said that the amount is sufficient to warrant a terminal station. Bangasser stated today that options are held on a number of locations and it is expected that the two officials to arrive this evening will do little but select the site.

When the terminal station is established, much of the sorting and classifying on the trains will be done in Ogden by a force of clerks. While the number of clerks will not be large at first, the parcel post business increases, others will be added and eventually there may be a large force.

Each of the men declared that he was stopped by a watchman named Wilson who asked if they had a dollar. When neither was able to produce the amount, the watchman placed them under arrest.

REV. DR. BOYD CALLED UPON BY MANY

Yesterday Rev. Dr. Boyd again demonstrated the power of spiritual and mental methods of curing disease. So many sufferers came to be treated that the doctor was unable to treat all during the morning hours. To those unacquainted with the powers of the mind and spirit, to those who had formerly laid value on material remedies only, the cures seemed miraculous. One old lady who came to the afternoon meeting was asked, "Why, Mrs. A., where is your crutch?" She answered, not in reverence, "Glory be to God, it's at home."

This will probably be Dr. Boyd's last day in August. He will lecture this evening at 8 o'clock. He is a most magnetic speaker and explains in the simplest terms the scientific basis of his cures. His evening lecture dealt with the psychology of mental cure. He said, in part, "There is somewhere a definite line of demarcation between animals and human beings. The study of the unfoldment of the human mind is one of great fascination and interest. Man in savagery concerns himself with material things, the more civilized he becomes the more he concerns himself with the mental and spiritual phases of life."

"The lowest forms of life consist practically of a stomach. As we study life forms in their development we realize that the mouth is an extended stomach; the hand, an extended mouth; the eye, an extended hand; reason, an extended eye, and faith an extended reason."

"There are five hypotheses concerning man's nature: Man is made up of mind and body, and each infers the other, man is made up of mind and body, but the mind creates the body; man is the body, and thought is a secretion of the brain; man is composed of a body and mind which work parallel, and something else that takes on a difference in character, this called the soul; lastly, and this is the hypothesis we favor, man is soul, and the body and the mind are the parallel expressions of the soul."

"Psychology has developed wonderfully in the last twenty years and old psychologists are now read chiefly out of curiosity. Hudson was the first practical psychologist, and many of the trails he blazed have not been abandoned. All mental healing proceeds according to the laws he formulated in his 'Law of Psychic Phenomena.' He states that mind is a unity, but it has two departments which he designates as the objective and subjective, or conscious and unconscious mind. The functions of the conscious mind is to receive and dispose of the reports of the five senses, to exercise the will, reason, judgment and all the activities of mental consciousness. Its processes are by induction, deduction, analysis and synthesis. It gathers any number of concepts, compares them, draws a conclusion, determines a truth, announces a law, etc. It also stands sentinel at the gateway to the subjective or unconscious mind, and in its normal action allows only true ideas and ideals to pass it and become commands to the unconscious self.

"The subjective mind reasons only by deduction. Given any fact, its deductions are logical and in harmony with the nature of the fact. But it has no power of analysis or comparison, and cannot determine the truth or falsity of any proposition, because it cannot hold two opposite ideas at a time. Ideas at the same time. This is the significant feature of the unconscious mind. It can hold only one idea at a time and it acts upon that idea with equal facility, whether it be true or false; and it does not originate an idea, but merely takes whatever idea passes the sentinel at the gateway, and begins at once to work it out in the physical condition or the mental and moral character. It is the particular function of the subjective mind that all the activities of the bodily organs are under its direction. Whether we sleep or wake, it does not rest. It carries on the functions of the respiratory or circulatory system, the liver, stomach, bowels, and all the organs of the body. Discordant thought, strife, hurry, worry, and other objective thoughts, giving rise to conflicting emotions which are at once impressed upon the subconscious self, produce a train of physical ills and disease and pain. If the idea of ease and health is planted in the subjective mind, it works out that idea."

"The objective mind is the architect of the body and the subjective mind is the builder. According to the plans furnished, the subjective mind will construct the health and character. The subjective mind receives suggestions from the environment, and it is the duty of the objective mind to select and construct suggestions. It shall reach the subjective to replace any destructive thoughts. When in trouble, if we say, 'Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth,' and immediately resign ourselves to be one of the Lord's pets, the unconscious mind will see that the idea is worked out to a finish."

Dr. Boyd gave a simple outline of the structure of the nervous system and the instructions of the unconscious mind. He proceeded: "Thoughts of anger, fear and worry create chemical secretions in the body. This is a scientific fact. A mother nursed her child after a violent fit of anger. The child was poisoned by the secretions and physicians were unable to save its life. Every poison has its antidote. This is the true mental poison. Love is the antidote for fear. Perfect love casteth out fear and he who feareth is not made perfect in love."

"The Bible does not differ from New Thought in the solution of the cure of destructive thought. It says, 'Hope thou in God,' and hope is the keynote of the new philosophy. The Master who able to produce such wonderful mental changes, and they in turn such physical secretions, that he could heal the leprosy. I do not know what is the limit of the mind in the control of the body, but 'as a man thinketh in his heart so is he.' A man can be anything he wants to be; anything he believes he can be; anything he wills to be."

All physicians use the power of suggestion. This is the true mental suggestion of healthy tanned people at the seashore that gives health to those who go to sea side for a vacation. The pines on the mountain side are also powerful suggestions of strength. If people can take suggestion in by mental methods, then they have to take it in the form of powder or pill, or have it rubbed in by an osteopath.

Some diseases have specific remedies. No mental suggestion will take the place of quinine for malaria, or thymol for the hookworm. In the use of suggestion always use the affirmative form the statement. I am at ease; not 'I haven't the headache.' Say the latter enough times and you will have the headache. In disease one should not hesitate to take a station, means for its cure. Use mental, spiritual or physical means, or a combination, as the case may need."

In the afternoon lecture Dr. Boyd named the eye, the voice, and the touch as the channels through which healing energy was transmitted. He gave the specific use and value of each of these in the curing of disease, and the gaining of personal power.

POWER SITES ARE BEING GUARDED

Forest Engineer J. P. Martin will leave Ogden tomorrow for northwestern Idaho, where he will make a general inspection of the Weiser and Salmon forests. The chief purpose of the trip is to make investigations regarding power sites on some of the streams.

It is said that the power site question in the western country is becoming one of national concern and that a closer watch of available sites for power purposes will be kept by not only the forest service, but other departments of the government.

It is understood that Engineer Samuel Fortier's mission to the west at this time has something to do with this question. He is engineer for the reclamation service of the government.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD ON THURSDAY

Funeral services for John Cooney will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow at the St. Joseph's Catholic church. The services will be attended by the Knights of Columbus and the Woodmen of the World, the two fraternal organizations to which he belonged, and the members of the police and sheriff's forces.

Although a decision has not been reached, it is probable that Judge W. H. Reeder will adjourn court tomorrow out of respect to Patrolman Cooney.

John Cooney was born at Ontonagon, Mich., February 19, 1854. He was 53 years of age. His childhood was spent in Marquette. In 1875 he left Michigan and came west, going to California, where he engaged in various occupations, finally coming to Ogden about thirty-five years ago, where he has resided almost continuously since. For a time he followed his trade as a carpenter and later was employed as a printer in Ogden when Judge Rhoades edited the Post.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth Drake at Willard thirty years ago last April, and for a time Mr. and Mrs. Cooney lived in Canada.

Returning to Ogden twenty-three years ago, Mr. Cooney followed his trade of printer and also that of carpenter until sixteen years ago, when he joined the police force and followed the duties of a patrolman for about three years. He then left the force and was employed in the railroad shops of the city until nine years ago, when he again returned to the Ogden police force, of which he was a member at the time of his death.

The illness which caused his death came upon him three years ago, and although he suffered severely at times, he managed to be on duty the greater part of the time until about three months ago, when his lung and heart trouble prevented him from following actively the duties of a patrolman.

During his long residence in Ogden John Cooney had gained a large acquaintance, and all were his friends. His death is felt particularly among the members of the police force, who knew him intimately and recognized his kindness and strength of character.

DENIES STORY OF QUITTING MEXICO

A dispatch was received in this city yesterday from Cardston, Alberta, saying that President Joseph Smith on his recent visit to that city had made the statement that the Mormon church was abandoning its Mexican colonization plan. President Smith last night emphatically denied that he had ever made such a statement. The dispatch further stated that President Smith had indicated that the church would attempt to buy the Blood Indian reservation in southern Alberta. This was also denied by President Smith.

WANT ACTION RECONSIDERED

Washington, Aug. 6.—Senator Works of California and several other senators began a movement today to secure reconsideration of the senate's action of last night in confirming Thomas Fox as postmaster at Sacramento, Cal. A fight had been made against Fox and his appointment was confirmed late yesterday when many senators were absent.

UNDECIDED AS TO CAR LINE EXTENSION

The directors of the Ogden Rapid Transit are undecided whether to build the Twenty-seventh street car extension over Jefferson avenue at this time, due largely to the fact that residents on the avenue between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-seventh streets are opposed to having a car line there.

President M. S. Browning stated this morning that the company had originally planned to build the Twenty-seventh street extension along Jefferson avenue, and the line would have been constructed before this time had it not been for the objections raised by property owners on Jefferson.

Mr. Browning says that the company looked upon the actions of the property owners as intended as an obstruction against the car company in its building activities and that the company does not desire to offend them more than is necessary.

However, the president of the Transit company says that it has not been fully decided to abandon the Twenty-seventh street car extension on Jefferson at this time. If the road is built over the avenue, operations will begin in the near future so as to have the roadbed laid by the time the Moran company completes its asphalt paving.

Manager Kline states that the material for the extension is on hand and that the roadbed can be constructed on short notice if the directors order it done.
